Update No. 21

MONTANA STATE LIBRARY
1515 E. 6th AVE.
HELENA, MONTANA 59620

The fourth-quarter interlibrary loan reimbursement rate was $2.00 per hour rather than $5.50 per item. Administrative rules adopted by the State Library Commission direct the State Library, if deemed necessary, to divide remaining ILL reimbursement funds by the number of interlibrary loans claimed for reimbursement. Because the number of interlibrary loans claimed for reimbursement during the fourth quarter was up, the amount reimbursed per item was adjusted accordingly.

The Montana State Library News and Update will be mailed earlier in the month than now are. The issue of Update was mailed out on August 14; the October issue will go out on October 1, and the December issue on December 5. The September News will go out September 12, and the November issue on November 7.

There have been several recent staff changes at Montana libraries. Andrea Sorensen is the new head librarian at Roosevelt County Library in Wolf Point; Kim Aldenburgh is placed in charge at the Potlatch and County Community Library in Winnett; Mary Workman has taken Anne Worley's position at the Swan Lake Public Library; Patrick Briarly is the new director at the West Yellowstone Public Library, replacing Susan McKenna; Verna Noonan replaces Joy Sander at the St. Regis Branch Library; Glenn Stiles has been named director of the Bogart Library at Northern Montana College in Havre; John Smith is the incoming director of the Montana College of Mineral Science and Technology Library, and Karl Nitro is the new collection management librarian at Lewis & Clark Library in Helena.

If you wish to receive any LSCA grant offered by the State Library Commission after October 1, your library must have an approved collection management policy on file with the State Library by that date. No LSCA grant applications will be furnished to any library unless State Library staff verifies that an approved collection management policy is on file that meets current State Library Commission guidelines and has prior approval from the library's governing body. If you have questions, please contact the Library Development program at 444-5349.

The Voluntary Certification Manual is in the works. Two copies of the manual will be mailed in September to each public library. The manual, compiled in 1990 by a special task force, contains specific guidelines for the voluntary certification of Montana librarians.

The Montana National Red Ribbon Campaign is asking Montana libraries to display red ribbons and feature drug prevention resources and speakers during Red Ribbon Week, October 11-27, 1991. The campaign, affiliated with the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth, is "dedicated to increasing the number of drug-free youth by empowering them to lead productive, healthy, drug-free lives." If your library is interested in participating, contact the Montana campaign at 1245 Park Garden Rd., Great Falls, 59404; 454-7065.

A 5½-year indexing project was completed recently at the Polson City Library. All records from the local newspaper were extracted for 1910-89 and entered into a computer. The indexes, except for 1910-1919, were printed in volumes of five-year increments and will be updated annually. The library will print index updates as funding allows. Partial funding for the computer entry work was provided by a Montana Arts Council Cultural & Aesthetic Grant.

Thanks to the Miles City Public Library Foundation, there's a new elevator lift at the Miles City Public Library. Director Delores Drennan said the library had planned to submit an LSCA grant request for the lift last year, but that the foundation offered to contribute the lift and the necessary carpentry work when members realized how serious the library staff was. "The doors and other structures are made of oak," Drennan said. "It is beautiful."

The Jane Carey Memorial Library at Dawson Community College in Glendive has a new fax number. The number is 335-8132 and is a dedicated line.

The Port Peck Fine Arts Players presented six children's fairy tales in July and August at libraries in the Golden Plains Federation. The show was performed July 29 at the Phillips County Library in Malta, July 30 at the Roosevelt County Library in Wolf Point and the Culbertson Branch Library, July 31 at the Daniels County Library, Siskiyou, and the Sheridan County Library in Plentywood, and August 1 at the Glasgow City Community Library.

Libraries across Montana are wrapping up their summer reading programs, and by most accounts, it was an unusually successful summer. If your library used the State Library's first statewide SRP theme, "Get the 'Beet' Pines - Read!", please remember to return your evaluation sheet by September 1. If you need another evaluation sheet, call Cathy Siegner at 444-5353.
